

The 9th Annual Goodman Accounting Challenge

Give Your Students A Competitive Edge

In the competitive job finding world we live in now, students need as much competitive edge that they can get. Being a Goodman Accounting Challenge (GAC) participant or winner can help.

Allow your students to take what you taught them in the classroom and apply it to real-life public accounting situations. Build their sense of teamwork and allow them to interact with many of the region's best accounting students.

Who: Your top accounting students

When: Preliminary Challenge (online): October 8th – 18th
Teams may sign on and take the 6 hour test any time within this timeframe.

Final Challenge: November 5th – 7th

Where: Preliminary Challenge: At home, the school library, etc.

Final Challenge: Innsbrook area of Richmond, VA

Why: To introduce your students to a top 30 accounting firm and real-life situations

“ My group members and I had a great time and definitely took a lot away from the Goodman Accounting Challenge - we learned so much from those test questions and the whole process. It really touched me that Goodman & Company would sponsor such a great event to encourage students to learn in a more real-world setting. Everyone I met this weekend from your firm was very genuine and took a big interest in us and in our future success. Thanks again for this incredible opportunity!”
